DISCUSSIONS have been going on for some time on the character of the Egyptian-British conflict, and two political parties in this country have expressed their sympathy with the aspirations of what they call the Egyptian masses. They admit of course that the anti-imperialist struggle is headed by the King, the Wafist government and organized by the Muslim Brotherhood—no shining examples of progress, democracy and socialism in the Middle East. This consideration, however, is not decisive in their eyes because "objectively," they say, these forces are fulfilling a progressive mission. According to this reasoning our anti-imperialists should have supported the E.Z.I. five years ago, but if we remember correctly, relations between "Hashomer Hatzair" for instance and the E.Z.I. were never particularly happy. Do these parties really believe that Axis at Misi El, now in charge of the Muslim Brotherhood guerrilla war, is more progressive than Mr. Menahem Begin? And Eliahu, now in charge of the Egyptian army who tried to escape from Cairo to Italy in May, 1941. Heading the anti-British boycott is Ali Maher Pasha, former Egyptian premier, who, in 1940, sold the Italian General Wavell's order of battle and was arrested a year later.

If we assume for argument's sake that the issue of the leadership of the present struggle is not decisive, questions still remain to be answered: is the Egyptian demand for full control of the Suez Canal and withdrawal of foreign troops justified? The reply should be in the affirmative, but it is not an unqualified "Yes." The Suez Canal area is not merely part of Egyptian territory. It is an international trust, a vital lifeline for many nations. If the Egyptians would be both willing and able to keep and safeguard this lifeline in the best interest of all concerned and defend it effectively in case of attack, there would be no reason whatsoever why their demands should not be accepted. But they are not only incapable, at least at present, of doing this, they have, what is more important, declared their unwillingness to let all ships of other nations freely pass through the Canal. Their policy with regard to ships from or to Israel ports has demonstrated what might happen to other nations should the present Egyptian government (or an alternative government which might enter the scene at the present time) get full control of the area.

Of course has nothing to do with the principle of the self-determination of nations, with the desire for independence or with anti-imperialism. If the Turkish government would decide, in accordance to close the Straits to all Russian ships, the Soviet government would consider taking appropriate action and would be justified in doing so. If Denmark should close the Sound to Russian (or British) ships, even the smallest opponent of the rights of small nations would not deny that other powers, big or small, are entitled to take action in order to safeguard free access. Turkey and Denmark have not done this nor has Britain closed the Straits of Gibraltar or the U.S. the Panama Canal, but Egypt demands rights of sovereignty unheard of in the history of international relations in peace time. There is no reason on earth why we should support these aspirations, even if it were purely an academic issue, not affecting us vitally or directly. Egypt would greatly profit by full single control of the Canal area and nationalization of the Company, but it is not prepared to shoulder the responsibilities involved. If this is national liberation, we should be allowed to shoot tax collectors and to burn the health department, because they certainly curtail our independence.

U. N. Surprises By Compromise Over Kaesong

MUNSAN, Saturday (AP).—U.N. truce negotiators, in a surprise move today, proposed to the Communists that Kaesong, a demilitarized zone, a decision on the Communist-held city was the final main issue blocking agreement on a Korean armistice cease-fire line. Communist negotiators at the Panmunjom talks apparently were cool towards the oral offer of the U.N., but a U.N. spokesman said the Communists "had not categorically turned down the proposal." He said the Communists repeated the reasons why they felt Kaesong and its surrounding high terrain should remain in their control. The U.N. wants Kaesong, situated about two miles south of the 38th Parallel to protect the northern approaches to Seoul, 34 miles south-east. Brigadier General William B. Nichols said the Kaesong suggestion was merely "an oral statement of principle" by U.N. Gen. Henry H. Hodges, head of the U.N. armistice sub-committee. The sub-committee will meet again tomorrow. They are tentative agreement on a proposal of a two and a half mile wide buffer zone on the eastern and western flanks of the Kaesong area, which is almost entirely in North Korea and follows the present battle line. Even if the issue of a cease-fire is settled, the armistice negotiations will be faced with other difficult questions before the shooting stops. The questions are: how the truce will be supervised, how to exchange prisoners and what recommendations will be made by the armistice negotiators to their governments.

7,000 at Teheran Communist Rally

TEHRAN, Saturday (Reuters).—A crowd of 7,000 gathered in Fawzia Square here yesterday to hear fiery speeches by leaders of the Communist-inspired Association for the Fight against Imperialist Oil Companies. With police standing by, the assembly chanted "Long live Soviet Russia; the only powerful guarantee of peace." Tehran Radio last night broadcast an announcement by the Persian National Oil Board that the Abadan refinery would restart work on Sunday. In the world, "Amid frantic applause and cheers they yelled, 'We protest against Mosaddeq's negotiations in Washington; down with Mosaddeq who is obeying the imperialist orders.'"

One member of the crowd read a resolution demanding the expulsion of all American advisers working for Persia. "They are all spies," he yelled. "The British Bank of Iran and the Middle East should be closed down. The Persian Government must recognize Communist China. Political prisoners must all be released. A trade agreement with Russia should be signed without delay. No foreign experts should be employed by the Persian National Oil Company." Before dispersing, without incident, the crowd shouted, "Down with the American Empire!" then passed on a huge drawing showing Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. Arthur Herring under the shadow of a gun. Meanwhile, opposition newspapers have launched a new campaign against the Government because of its alleged failure to curb the activities of the Turkish (Communist) Party. They call for reforms and measures to raise the living standard of the people. They would have given their support to the Turkish Party if it had not been under the direction of foreigners.

Accord Reached on German Pact

BONN, Saturday (Reuters).—West Germany and the Western Allies reached agreement on many essential points of a draft general treaty to give Germany a new status of partnership in the Western world, an official communiqué said here last night. The communiqué was issued after a seven-hour meeting at Mehlum, near here, between Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West German Chancellor, and the three High Commissioners.

Foreign Policy Debate Today

By Moshe Brilliant, POST Parliamentary Correspondent
Israel's policy of non-identification with either the East or the West in international affairs will be reviewed in the Knesset today in the light of the recent talks with Western diplomatic representatives on the establishment of a Middle East Command.

The foreign policy debate which will be opened by Mr. Moshe Sharett is also expected to cover the questions of reparations from Germany, the $500 million grant-in-aid from the United States and the issues arising out of the Palestine Conciliation Commission talks in Paris. The Foreign Minister will not be in a position to enlighten the House on details of the proposed Middle East Command, as the Government itself has not been informed of them. It is understood that the Western diplomats have merely discussed the paramount importance of measures to defend the area. The time has not yet come for Israel to express its position on association with the Command. In fact, it is not yet known what any association with SACME might entail.

Western Impatience
For example, it is not clear whether the Israel Army, if it forms part of the Command, would have to be committed only to defend the borders of this country or to move to the defence of other Middle East countries if attacked. The Western diplomats, it is understood, have been impatient with the Government's requests for detailed information and with Israel's fears that concessions might be made to the Arab states at the expense of Israel, or that arming the Arabs might threaten this country. Their reasoning was as follows:

- The Middle East is threatened with a deluge, and measures to stem disaster cannot wait for the settlement of internal disputes.
- The sponsors of the Command have proved to be Israel's staunchest friends and can be relied upon to assure that this country will not be let down.
- Israel is a sovereign state, and no foreign power can make concessions at her expense without the consent of the government, and, finally, with the situation not any clearer than that, the government may not be ready today to clarify its stand. Thus, the Opposition may be left to lead the argument, with Mapam condemning the talks with the Western powers as a "final sell-out to the imperialists" and the right-wing opposition, who in principle favour association with SACME, calling for a more forthright policy.

Reparations Issues
With regard to reparations, there are two issues: whether reparations should be sought from Germany, and whether direct negotiations should be opened with the Bonn Government. To some extent, the分歧 here cuts across party lines. At least two, the General Zionists and Progressives, have been unable to adopt positions and have given individual members discretion to act according to their conscience. The Zionist Religious Party are also divided amongst themselves, but the coalition parties will probably be bound by collective responsibility, once the Cabinet adopts a policy on the question. The Cabinet has thus far decided only to seek reparations, but has taken no stand on the question of direct negotiations. With regard to the P.C.C. talks, there will be pressure to discontinue them. Mapam and the Communists object in principle to negotiations with the Arabs through the medium of the Western Powers, but other members believe that the Paris talks are futile. The Government will probably be criticised for the concession they made in Paris when they agreed to discuss the resettlement of Arab refugees with the P.C.C.

Britons Expel Twelve More Egyptians

PAYED, Saturday (AP).—The British Military HQ announced today that 12 Egyptians have been expelled from the Suez Canal Zone for "incriminating" workers, making a total of 23 expelled within the last few days. Among the men was an Egyptian police lieutenant, a police informer and two of his friends. The zone has remained quiet during the last 24 hours, the spokesman said, except for weapon matching incidents. Earlier yesterday, a British military spokesman at Fayid said more than 4,000 British troops reinforcements had been flown to the Suez Canal Zone since Egypt demanded the 1950 treaty. R.A.P. planes are shuttling between the Canal zone, Cyprus, Tripoli and Beirut.

Princess Concludes Washington Visit

QUEBEC, Saturday (Reuters).—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were resting in the mountain resort of St. Agathe des Monts here after returning from a three-day visit to Washington today. They were received by President Truman and his family and attended a reception at Blair House. Tomorrow they will begin the last leg of their Canadian tour.

Schuman Sees Major Allied Peace Bids

PARIS, Saturday (Reuters).—The French Foreign Office today declined to elaborate on Foreign Minister Robert Schuman's forecast of occasional Allied peace moves in the next few days. At Rennes, Brittany, last night, Mr. Schuman said: "You will be faced in a few days with moves of the three Allies in service of the cause of peace which, I think, I can say will cause a sensation." M. Schuman said the U.S. Secretary of State, Mr. Acheson, will make the peace offer. It is understood the offer will include a final peace plan for Korea, a new world disarmament programme, U.N.-supervised elections in Germany for the country's unification, and an expression of willingness to meet again with the Soviets and an agreement on outstanding issues.

Israel Obtains Japan Credits

TOKYO, Saturday (UP).—The two-man Israeli economic mission today won a seven-week visit to Japan with an agreement from the Japanese Export Bank for purchase loans to Israel. The mission succeeded in establishing virtually unlimited credit for Israel, but failed to secure an overall loan from the Japanese government. Dr. Itzhak Benzer and Mr. Max Tal who are leaving today for Tel Aviv by the S.A.S. were told by Japanese officials that the country was not yet ready for the latter type of financing. The next step, Dr. Benzer said, was for an Israeli technical mission to come here and supervise the actual purchases of ships, rolling stock and power plants that the new state needs. During their visit here, Dr. Benzer and Mr. Tal conducted an exhaustive survey of Japanese factories, shipyards and mines. "We were frankly surprised at its industrial advancement," Dr. Benzer said. The first sizeable Japanese shipment to Israel—147 tons of copper and 14 tons of brass for the Palestine Electric Corporation—is to leave Yokohama later this month. The purchase, worth $214,000, was made through Eisenberg and Company.

Electricity Rates Up by 30 percent

Electricity rates have been increased about 30 per cent for domestic consumption and 10 per cent for industrial use, the Palestine Electric Corporation announced yesterday. The new rates went into effect on October 31. All meter readings which were taken on or after that date will be computed on the basis of the higher costs. Current for industrial purposes has been raised about two pruta per kilowatt hour for the first 1,000 kilowatt hours and one-half pruta a kilowatt hour after that.

Collapse in Egypt Economy Seen if Tension Not Eased

Unless the tension in Egypt is eased and order restored the country will find itself confronting enormous economic and financial difficulties, Cairo's leading daily, "Al Ahran," reported yesterday. The warning was contained in the final report of Egypt's parliamentary Financial Commission on the 1951-52 budget, submitted to the House for ratification. The commission, reinforced by economic experts, said Egypt's entire economic structure is likely to collapse unless peace, and normal trade with Britain and other Western countries are maintained. According to "Al Ahran," the commission reported that the draft budget has already strained resources to the limit—13 million Egyptian pounds have been taken from the reserves to balance the budget. Unemployment Feared
One-half of the country's entire expenditure could not be met by the government, the commission said. Only 24 per cent was allocated for reconstruction work. Any cuts in expenditure would have to be made at the expense of reconstruction projects, which would lead to unemployment and a further drop of the present low level of production. In Cairo, Minister of the Interior Saad el-Din said on Friday that the situation in the Canal Zone was "very dangerous" and Cairo's vital petrol reserves would last only a few days longer. He described Egypt's action in cutting off supplies of oil from the Canal zone as "unhuman." Alienation of the situation, however, was provided by an official communiqué from British General H.Q. in Cairo yesterday, which said a greater number of oil tankers from the Canal zone to the Nile Delta and Cairo will be allowed shortly.

Critical British Deficits May Lead to NATO Scale-Down
Harriman Meets With Tory Leaders

By George Lichtheim, POST Correspondent
LONDON, Saturday. — British gold losses during the past week are reliably understood to have reached an alarming figure and this subject is believed to have figured prominently in yesterday's discussions between members of the Government and Mr. Harriman. Total gold losses by all countries to America aggregated $189 million during the week and $390 million during the last three weeks. It is believed that Britain's losses accounted for the bulk of this figure. The acceleration since Mr. Gaittelli announced a loss of $600 million for the quarter ending in September has been such as to cause genuine anxiety in Whitehall. It is believed that Britain's balance of payments has been such as to cause genuine anxiety in Whitehall. Eisenhower Back To See Truman

WASHINGTON, Saturday (Reuters). — General Dwight Eisenhower, Atlantic Pact Supreme Commander, arrived in Port Knox today to discuss his new plan for speeding up West European Defence plans. The "Eisenhower Plan" which he is to discuss with President Truman next week would mean that his forces would be prepared for combat and fully equipped many months ahead of the present timetable, it was learned authoritatively. He believes that 20 divisions "in the hand" by July, 1952 and ready to fight are worth more than the 60 divisions "in the bush" planned for 1954, according to these sources.

The present North Atlantic Treaty defence and rearmament programme with its tentative 1954 target date is too slow, he believes, (London reports—see lead story)—suggest, however, that even this key legal match for England's strained economy.)

New Appointments To British Gov't

LONDON, Saturday (Reuters). — Prime Minister Winston Churchill today appointed Mr. Lionel Frederick Head, Attorney-General, one of the key legal posts in the new government. It was also announced last night that Mr. Thomas Dugdale, newly appointed Minister of Agriculture, and Fisheries, Mr. Lennox-Boyd and Mr. Clyde are to become Privy Counsellors. None of the appointments announced carries Cabinet rank. A further list of minor appointments is still to be announced.

Riot Squads In Casablanca

CASABLANCA, Saturday. — Anti-riot precautions continued today in Casablanca following Thursday's disturbances, in which six Moroccan were killed. Thirty rioters, 18 policemen and 12 European civilians were injured. Over 500 were arrested. The riots occurred when supporters of the Istiqlal Nationalist Party, boycotting elections for Moroccan Consultative Councils, tried to prevent people from voting. Armed troops and police patrols today marched through the streets of the native city. But the only incident today was when some of the small Moroccan boys who played a leading part in the riots closed a section of the street. (Reuters, AP)

Europe Is Not Informed-Spank

PARIS, Saturday (Reuters). — M. Paul Henri Spaak, Chairman of the Council of Europe, today blamed Western Governments for not keeping their Parliaments or public opinion sufficiently informed about plans for a European army. "I myself am in the dark and the Belgian Parliament for one is likely to be troublesome," he told the press. The voice of the Prophet Amos is a cry in the wilderness. Magistrates' Courts May Not Try Profiteers
The Magistrates' Courts have no jurisdiction to try offences committed against Anti-Profiteering Regulations, the Jerusalem District Court ruled last week. Only Anti-Profiteering Tribunals will now be able to try such cases.

The judgment was given in favour of Mr. Raphael Sano, of Jerusalem, who had been sentenced to a fine of £130 by the Magistrate's Court for profiteering.

Mr. A. Wiener, representing the appellant, pleaded that the section of the Anti-Profiteering Regulation of 1944 which gave the Magistrates' Courts power to deal with such offences, was repealed by a later Regulation. In 1945, the 1944 special three-man tribunals were set up to deal with profiteers, and according to this law, they were to have exclusive authority over offences committed against it.

For the Attorney-General, Mr. I. Weiser argued, however, that the Regulations of 1944 had merely suspended the authority given to Magistrates by the 1944 law. The 1945 law did not explicitly give the Magistrates jurisdiction in anti-profiteering cases.

Education Budget
The Ministry of Education and Culture's share of the national budget has risen from six per cent at the founding of the State to 12 per cent in the current balance sheet, it was stated at a meeting last week of Chief Inspectors and Directors of Departments in the Ministry, with Professor Ben-Zion Dinaburg, the Minister, in the chair.
